The Democratic Standard-Benrer of the Tenth District is Ably Assisted by Major Rebert B. Poore.

FLUVANNA COUNTROUSE,
Angust 27, 1888.
The campaign was most suspiciously opened here to-day with rousing speeches from District-Elector Major Robert B. Poore and our congressional candidate, Henry St. George Tucker.
From a graceful introduction, in which he alluded in touching terms to his kinsman from this county, who yielded his man from this county, who yielded his life on the bloody heights of Gettysburg. Major Poore passed to characterize this campaign as a fight of honesty against cerruption, like that of 1884, and declared that the nomination of Cleveland and Thurman was not the work of politicians, but the irresistable demand of the people. Blaine's testimony in behalf of Thurman, when he dreamed not that he would are he ed not that he would ever be again a candidate, was commented on in a style which greatly delighted his large audience. The Major then proceeded to give many reasons why the "horny-banded sons of toil" who made Gran-daddy Harrison President could not support the moneyed aristocrats, Morton and Harrison, when they have an oppor-tunity of placing at the head of the Gov-

THE EASTERN SHORE.

Success of the Eastern Shore Agricultural Fair.

Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.1 ONANCOCK, August 25, 1888. The eleventh annual exhibition of the Eastern Shore Agricultural Association, which began last Tuesday and ended yesterday, was altogether one of the most successful ever held in this section. The fair-grounds are located on the seaside about one and a half miles distant from Keller station, on the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk railroad. The distance from the railroad, with the entire tance from the railroad, with the entire absence of hotels and other houses of accommodation on the grounds, precaute any considerable etterators. ecommodation on the grounds, prevents any considerable attendance from distant sections of the Peninsula, but everybody who can reach the fair by private conveyance is generally on band every day during the exhibition. The woods that surround the grounds are successful to the section of the canvass. The freed never expect such a statement to find credence with any one who was in the large audience that to-day listened to him and Judge Staples discuss the issues of the canvass. The speakers were introduced by exsenter which with value of example of the control of the control of the property of the propert woods that sarround the graceful manner. The court-room was scription, from the old-fashioned four-wheeled carriage to the familiar one-ox cart, that one can scarcely make his way through them. On the grounds are to be seen agriculturai implements, farm and garden products, horses, cattle, sheep, hogs, poultry, and an elaborate display of ladies' fancy and domestic work. The chief feature of the fair, however, is horseracing, and while this is going on nearly everything else is neglected. The Eastern Shore is famous for the abundance of its fast trotters, and during fair week horse talk is the main topic of conversa-tion here. Most of the horses that have won races at previous fairs were con-spicuously absent at this one. The leading three-minute race was won by Scott's issue of the campaign. He showed Fancy, of Northampton; but the most that the Mills bill was not only a wise Fancy, of Northampton; but the most exciting and closely contested was the 2:50 race between Buck Scott's Clifton, of Northampton, and Levin Parker's Grey Fagle, of Accomack. This race was won by Clifton, the best time made being 2:38;—Grey Eagle coming in only a neck's length behind. The free-for-ail race on the last day was won by Parker's Grey Eagle, who beat Scott's famous stellion Signet that won the leading courage to do so, and that man was Clifton on every heat. Scott's famous stallion Signet that won the leading trotting race at the last State Fair, was on hand and attracted universal admiration, but did not enter the races.

The live stock department was very fine, the ladies' department unsurpassed, and the poultry as good as at any previous exhibition; but the display of farm, orchard, and garden products was the slenderest ever seen here before. The space usually devoted to this department was not half filled. The articles on exhibition were of very superior quality, but they could sli have been carried away in a couple of one-horse pointo-carts.

See the ram would have had the courage to do so, and that man was allen G. Thurman.

Upon the conclusion of Judge Staples's speech Major J. Hoge Tyler was loudly called for, and responded in a stirring address, urging the importance of carrying this election.

The Bepublicans held a meeting to day and appointed delegates to the Lynchburg Convention.

The Board of Visitors of the Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College met here also to consider some matters relative to the experimental station and the office of treasurer.

The crowds present each day were variously estimated at from three to four thousand souis, and the fair must have been a very decided financial success.

The newly-organized Chesapeake Agricultural Society will hold its first exhibition at Cape Charles City during the last week in October.

Professor Martyne, widely known in this section of Virginia as a skilful instructor in the terpsichorean art, died yesterdy at the home of his son-in-law, Dr. Burleigh C. Kellam, at Cape Charles City, in consequence of injuries received everal days ago in falling down a flight of steps. The Professor was an old man, ad had been an invalid for some years.

During one of the severe rain- and wind-storms that recently swept over the Chesapeake bay Captain Lewis Crockett and his brother Travis Crockett were caught in an open bost while going from Crisfield, Md., to their home on Tangier Island, some filteen miles distant. The mast of the boat was struck by lightning and both men were rendered unconscious, in which condition one of them remained till he reached the island.

The Eastern Shore delegates to the First District Republican Congressional Convention that assembled at Gloucester Courthouse on the 22d returned yesterday, much pleased with their trip. Among the delegates to the convention were Mayor James C. Weaver, of Onancock, who ran as an independent candidate for the House of Delegates one year ago, and Dr. George T. Scarburgh, who left the Democratic party two years ago, left the Democratic party two years ago, and, after posing for awhile as an "Independent," has now come out as a fulfiedged and enthusiastic Republican. The latter seconded Mr. Browne's nomination before the convention.

ROCKBRIDGE'S GAIN

IS BOTETOURT'S LOSS-THE BOUNDARY

Mr. Carliale to Speak in Lexington-The Exposition-Rockbridge Fair and Notes-Personal.

[Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.]

Lexinoron, Va., August 27, 1888.

The General Assembly of Virginia during the session of 1887-'88 passed an act entitled "an act to change the boundary lines between the counties of Rockbridge and Botetourt south of James river, and to transfer a small portion of Botetourt to Rockbridge county."

Under this act the county surveyors of Botetourt and Rockbridge counties were directed to make a careful survey of the new line, which is described in the said act by metes and bounds, between said counties, and cause the same to be plainly designated and marked by permanent monuments at all important corners, monuments at all important corners, and elsewhere by plain and repeated marks on trees and other natural objects along and near the line.

In obedience to the requirements of this act our county surveyor, Mr. J. H. B. Jones, has just completed a survey of the proposed new boundary-line between the two counties, and has filed the same the two counties, and has filed the same for record in the clerk's office of this county. The new line begins upon the southern bank of James river at low-water mark, upon the lands of Joseph Gilmore's heirs, thence by a new line up said river along the northern margin thereof at low-water mark with meanderings of said stream a distance of one mile and one fifth of a mile, thence by a new line parallel to the present line between said counties to a point in the present line between Botetourt and Bedord counties. The area included in the survey and which is now a portion of Bockbridge county contains over four thousand acres. While the greater part of the land is rough and hilly some of it is very fertile and easy of cultivation. There are about two thousand acres of this land in oxcellent timber, convenient and accessible to the line of the Shenandoah and Richmond and Alleghany railroads. The addition to Rockbridge county re-sulting from the new line adds about law-abiding people.

The lands and personal property and the persons residing on the land thus annexed to this county will be assessed for taxation in Rockbridge county for the year 1888. Prior to that date taxes will be paid to the county of Botetourt. The costs connected with the annexation, including the surveyor's fee, are borne jointly by the two counties. Next Monday at this place, that being the regular September County-Court day, Speaker Carlisle will address the people. The mere announcement of this fact will insure a large attendance, and the railroads will give special rates, thus afford-ing an opportunity for people living at a distance to hear this distinguished statesman. It is stated on reliable authority that other distinguished men of the Democratic party will make speeches in this (the Tenth) congressional district during the canvass.

Mr. R. Witt, sheriff of this county, will leave in a few days for California look after the property belonging to his brother, the late David Witt, whose sad death by drowning was mentioned in the columns of the Dispatch a few days ago.

It does not seem probable now that the Board of Supervisors will make any appropriation to have this county repre sented at the Richmond Exposition, but the two institutions of learning located here and some gentlemen of means and enterprise will make an exhibit that will be not only creditable to them but alike

The Rockbridge County Fair will take place October 9th, 10th, 11th, and 12th. The schedule of premiums has been published. The indications point to a suc-cessful exhibition, particularly as to farm products and live stock. Lexington has been designated as

Four hundred acres of the above land is heavity timbered with white oak, post oak, and pine; 600 acres is what is called Pamunkey date, and 400 acres is what is called Pamunkey date, and 400 acres is high leads. This land is in fine heart and is susceptible of the highest contivitation; takes grasses of all klond well.
This farm is well watered, having the Famunkey on the one side and tweeter failing creeks runring through it, based on manages springs and a well of the finest water in the yard. The lawn and garden contain ten or twelve acres of land.
The lawn is beautifully terraced and contains some of the most beautiful and rare shade-trees to be found anywhere. There is a large millpend on the place and a mill itle. Taken altogether, this is one of the most noted and valuable farms to be found anywhere in the State of Virginia, being only eighteen miles from Richmond, on the Chesapeate and Ohle railway, and three and a half miles from the 4 post. Lecated in a pleasant and healthful neighborhood, convenient to churches, schools, and post-office, this truly desirable estate should attract the attention of those seeking a beautiful country retreat or for those looting for first-class investments, as the fertility of the soil and the abudance of valuable timber theroon and its proximpt to market make it in every way immensely valuable. We would also call the attention of sportsmen to this farm. It would make one of the finest hunting-lodges in this section, as it abounds in game of all kinds, such as partitinges, turkeys, &c.

For further particulars please call on the autending the sale will get off the train at Hanover
